

CHW Education Programs GRID

In Ohio the Ohio Revised Code outlines competencies, performance standards, and curricular content to be included in education/training programs for CHWs. Further, the Ohio Revised Code designates the Ohio Board of Nursing as the certification body for CHWs, requiring that in order to become a certified CHW in Ohio, students must complete a Board of Nursing approved CHW curriculum as articulated in the Ohio Revised Code. Currently, there are nine academic institutions and three non-profit organizations offering Ohio Board of Nursing approved CHW curricula http://www.nursing.ohio.gov/PDFS/CHW/CHW_Training_Programs.pdf Additionally, hospitals, Medicaid Managed Care, and other health and social services organizations have developed CHW training/education programs, and/or are using on-line curricula which, while not Board of Nursing Approved, are specifically responsive to identified issues within the organizations. Listed below are summaries of education/training programs in two sections, those that offer academic credit and those that do not offer academic credit.
